Berkeley Fellowship of Unitarian Universalists

March 2019

Upcoming Worship Services

Services at 10:30 a.m.

March 3: International Women's Day

Melanie DeMore, Guest Speaker

On this, the first Sunday of Women's History Month, Vocal Activist Melanie DeMore will return to BFUU as we sing songs of life and celebration. When women sing, when women rise together, when women of all sizes, shapes, religions, sexual orientations, ethnicities and classes raise our voices together, we are so powerful that we can interrupt injustice anywhere. Join us as we rise up singing a joyful song that will ring throughout Berkeley and, quite possibly, the whole world.

March 10: Sound Healing Meditation

Melissa Felsenstein, Sound Practitioner

Rediscover the art of relaxation, rejuvenation, and reflection through a live meditative soundscape. Explore why sound has been celebrated globally as a healing agent for thousands of years. Listen, relax, and feel a sense of inner tranquility.

March 17: Faith in Science, Faith and Science

Rev. Marsh Agobert, Worship Leader

I find that some people take offense when I refer to Science as the most widespread religion of the 20th and 21st centuries. I think this is pretty solid proof that humans are still partially rational and partially irrational creatures. I see nothing wrong with this. I don't hold this balancing act as a weakness...as long as we can maintain a dynamic balance. I AM concerned that we are battling a substantial slide toward the irrational in an untutored manner. Let's look at how both the rational and the irrational are important to living as a whole human being and how we can reconcile this delicate dynamic.

March 24: Sex, Sins and Souls: Roe v. Wade Turns Forty Six

Rev. Dr. Carrie Knowles, Guest Worship Leader

The Supreme Court decision that established women's right to control their reproductive lives was a hard-won victory that grew out of years of women's political activism. Now women's bodily autonomy again is under threat from an increasingly conservative judiciary. In the words of Coretta Scott King, the lesson for our lives today is that freedom must be won anew by each generation's struggle.

March 31: Fluid and Multitudes

Lauren Way, Guest Worship Leader

Join is for an exploration of identity and expression as we consider what it means to be seen on this Transgender Day of Visibility.

What is Our Covenant and Why Does It Matter?

It's that time of year again! And I, for one, love it. This is the time when we remember our Covenant and reinstate it. It's a bit like spring. What is a covenant? Simply put, a covenant is an agreement between beings that articulates HOW we choose to be with each other; the promise to strive to be so. And that can be anyway that a group of people chooses to be.

If, for example, a group determines they wanted to be a nation that wars amongst themselves, down to the last person standing – well, we'd expect to see that group, whenever they come together, suit up in all their best armor, pick up their deadliest weapons and go at it until "There can be only one." Or, on the other hand you might have a covenant like the UU Berkeley Fellows. There are days when, if you didn't know our actual covenant, you might think it was the warring covenant mentioned above. Yet, indeed it is not. It is filled with love and service and trust. If you're not thoroughly familiar with it...you can find it in the order of service each week, tucked quietly in the Chalice Lighting. Look it up and read it slowly, as if for the first time, and you will find the cure for all that ails this community. Ingest it and make it your own and we may never need another facilitator or special consultant to heal our self-inflicted wounds. Embody it and you will live Beloved Community and create in your wake.

The Registration for Covenant Groups 101 and 202 are now open! Each group will include UP TO 10 members at which point the group is closed. Last year people would ask, weeks after the group was filled, how they might join. By then it's too late. So TODAY is the best time to register by:

- Email to me: RevMarsh@BFUU.org (put in the subject line: Covenant Group!)
- Text to me: (707) 557-5707 (place in first line: Covenant)

After the email subject line or the first line of the text place whatever message you wish.

"Nuff said." – Stan Lee

Friends of Adeline

Sunday February 10 was a whirlwind of words, music, art, and community. Edythe Boone led the worship service, and Guest Musicians Sharp Five Jazz Band brought their smooth sound. We had a potluck and artist reception, then watched Mo Morris' film, "A New Color." The collection plate was donated to Friends of Adeline.

Sharp Five Jazz Band

Where's Arlo? When we were looking over pictures of the worship team for the Sunday service on December 23, 2018, we noticed that in one of the pictures, the adorable face of Arlo, Doug Chambers' daughter, is peeping between two of the team members. Can you spot her? Awhile back, the BFUU kids were "quizzing" congregants to see if they knew their names. Don't forget to say "hello" to the kids when they attend services! This picture is from the service where we bid a fond farewell to retiring community minister Earl Koteen and prospective community minister Tom McAninley was there to help us thank him for his service to BFUU.

Hear Hear – Here!

Could you use a little help to hear the Sunday service more clearly? Help is now available— in the form of personally adjustable headphones. Each Sunday, several headphones will be available at the Greeter's Table near the front door. Just tell the greeter if you'd like to try one and decide for yourself how helpful they can be.

little stones

she must have found them in the woods and streams near the places she lived found each one as she found four-leaf clovers said "I find one and it gives me the good luck
 to find another"
picked up each stone
each round stone
each oval or flat stone
this one smooth, this one rough all of them small—they had to be small—and turned them over in the palm of her hand
each one as familiar as each old bottle in the window
 the spidery driftwood found long ago
 the pewter plate, bent with age
each stone
 chosen for its smallness
 its roundness
 its smooth worn-ness
 or its roughness
 like her hands
 after working in the garden

Day of Visibility Worship Service*

Richard is a photographer interested in fine arts, documentary, portraits, and just about anything other than macros and sports. He does a lot of work for the communities in which he is involved. BJ was born intersex. The doctor said “it’s easier to remove bits than add things,” so BJ grew up as female despite having a stocky physique, going as far as playing high school football as a girl. Biology caught up with him in his 20s and his body began to shut down until he had corrective surgery. BJ is a lawyer, spending 20% of his time working pro bono on children’s cases. The rule is that the kids can play with the toys they can reach on the shelves and he has a couple cases of toys.

Social Justice Committee NEWS & VIEWS

by Phoebe Sorgen

On the morning of Feb. 17, before Vic Sadot's (former SJC chair) fabulous memorial Open Mic in the BFUU Hall, Social Justice Committee members and other congregants were inspired by Rev. Marsh's sermon on Selma. Then, 14 members (and 1 guest) attended part or all of the 90 minute, cordial SJC meeting.

We agreed to:

1. accept the Social Justice Ministry's request to become a subcommittee (SJM Task Force) of the SJC.
2. approve the SJM Task Force's budding plan to start a Homeless Choir and to recruit a pro bono choir director. (Jeff P is convener.)
3. endorse local and national peaceful actions on Sat. Feb. 23 against US intervention in Venezuela. (Noon to 2pm Oscar Grant Plaza, Oakland.)
4. endorse local and national peaceful actions on March 30 & 31 for peace re the 70th anniversary of NATO. 3/30 Oakland Fed Bldg., Clay St. 1pm. <https://www.unacpeace.org/>
5. send the Berkeley Mayor and City Council a letter requesting an urgency ordinance that:
 - a. bans 5G (5th Generations wireless telecom) "small" cell installations in residential neighborhoods, and
 - b. includes a 1500 foot minimum setback from businesses, schools, healthcare facilities, and scenic corridors.
6. elect Jesse, Phoebe, and Cynthia J as SJC co-chairs, Gene as liaison with the BFUU office, and Virginia as secretary.

SJC is aligned with the Poor People's Campaign: 2pm April 6 at Taylor Memorial Church, Oakland. Hearing on homelessness, mass incarceration, and the criminalization of poverty.

Everyone who is interested in potentially helping any of our social justice efforts is welcome at the 3rd Sunday SJC meetings in the foyer around 12:30 (or when socializing seems to be waning after the service, as we want to avoid interrupting connections.) The next SJC meeting is Sunday March 17. You are also welcome at the SJM Task Force meetings after services on 1st Sundays. We are grateful that Rev. Marsh and Rev. Claire facilitated two healing circles, which some SJC members participated in and which efforts may continue, TBD.

SJC Request to Oppose 5 G

Like the BFUU Social Justice Com, please consider asking our Mayor/City Council to oppose 5G. Emailing them has more impact if you let them know that you live, work, and/or worship in Berkeley: council@cityofberkeley.info, clerk@cityofberkeley.info

From a letter signed by 40 residents:

Please ban 5th Generation “small” cell installations in residential neighborhoods. An urgency ordinance should include a 1500 ft. minimum setback from businesses, schools, and healthcare facilities to prevent:

1. decreased reliability of the communications system as a whole
2. loss of our City’s resilience when disaster strikes (if our reliable communication network is replaced with wireless which fails during emergencies)
3. related fires and potential electrocutions
4. privacy and security breaches
5. increased energy use
6. unsightly and hazardous industrial clutter in our neighborhoods
7. property devaluation due to landowners’ concerns re health, environment, and esthetics
8. harmful health impacts
9. danger to workers
10. an economic boondoggle
11. less equality in internet access than wired systems can provide (no rural revolution)
12. slower internet speeds than wireline cable or fiber optic to the premises
13. loss of local sovereignty and the right to defend constituents from Big Telecom greed. (Partial remedy proposed by Anna Eshoo HR 530)
14. exorbitant expenses for our town

For all of these reasons, and more, please place bold restrictions on 5G asap.

Musical Notes: New Faces in Music at BFUU

Bandleader Guy Gash’s students perform with members of The Sharp Five Jazz Band.

Musical highlights at BFUU for February included some wonderful new musicians who performed for us at the Sunday services. On Feb. 10, when muralist/activist Edythe Boone came to talk about how she uses art to build community, Guy

Gash returned to BFUU to lead “The Sharp Five Jazz Band” in playing smooth jazz music for us during the service. As a new treat, he brought several of his young jazz students and they performed lively music while the potluck lunch was being prepared. Congregants danced away while a row of beaming parents watched attentively and took videos and photos.

On Feb. 3, Dr. Susan led a quartet of harmony singers that included BFUU newcomer Danny Botello who lent his lovely tenor/bass voice to a reflective performance of “The 23rd Psalm” set to music by Bobby McFerrin. Danny says he hopes to come to BFUU more often and sing for us.

Have you noticed the screen in the east-facing foyer window? It's what we're calling our "Electronic Wayside Pulpit" and it has been nearly two years in the making. You'll see Worship Service descriptions and other public BFUU events rotating through the slides, which will change with the times. Already, passers-by are stopping to read what's going on at the Fellowship. Big thanks to Michael Simpkins, Jr., IT Consultant, and Susan Macke, Office Coordinator, for getting this project off the ground!

This past month we've served many communities within our larger community. These include the Tibetan Culture Center, Down Syndrome Connection (Peer Development Classes), Non-Violent Communication Classes, and the heart-warming memorial for our own Vic Sadot - appropriately celebrated with an open mic in our Fellowship Hall.

Upcoming events include two weeks of Summer Performing Camp for kids K-8, an evening of Laughter & Inspiration from Swami Beyondananda, a folk music celebration and benefit for Camp Harmony, and the 7th Annual Berkeley Dulcimer Gathering (my fave, for reasons!) – all in the Historic Fellowship Hall.

Feel free to contact me for more information about these public events.

In the meantime, enjoy the plum blossoms, the lengthening days, and the beautiful, beautiful rain.

All the best,

Deborah

Potluck, Film & Panel Discussion:

What is Humane Meat?

Slow Food East Bay presents a screening of "Eating Animals"

Thursday March 14 – 6 PM potluck, 7 PM program in Fellowship Hall

Join Slow Food East Bay and Transition Berkeley to delve into the prickly questions involved in raising livestock for food.

The truth is - people eat meat. Instead of arguing that it shouldn't be so, let's talk about how to do it better. How we serve those needs and desires determines the welfare of many animals, the health of the planet and ourselves. Is there such a thing as 'humane meat'? Can a small group of dedicated farmers change the agricultural industry? How can we encourage people to eat less, but better quality, meat?

Start at 6pm with a potluck demonstrating Slow Food values of Good Clean and Fair, then watch "Eating Animals", a documentary by Jonathan Safran Foer and Natalie Portman.

After, hear from & ask questions of a panel made up of both omnivorous and plant-based guests, all involved in the good food movement from the production to the policy side.

Event sponsored by: Transition Berkeley, Slow Food East Bay and BFUU Social Justice Comm.
